

Banish Bad Dad presents at Joulberry this Father's Day

A meal out, pack of golf balls, a new shirt...surely there must be something more exciting than the same old Father's Day gifts? Joulberry, the British jewellery brand steps in to rescue you from another year of pain, suffering and torment with their definitive guide to unusual and unique Father's Day gifts.

First Father's Day

Our Square Footprint Cufflinks take the actual footprints of your little one and miniaturise them onto a pair of fine silver cufflinks. There's even space to add a name, date or short word. £230 from joulberry.com.

Why stop there though. If you're feeling really creative Joulberry can also capture their fingerprints, handprints, child's drawings or simply some special wording onto cufflinks too. Cufflink prices start at £130.

Dads who don't do Cufflinks

Dad doesn't wear cufflinks? Never fear there's always the Open Scroll leather bracelet in masculine black, charcoal grey or dark brown. This simple piece takes any special wording you want, curls it into a silver scroll and threads it onto a soft leather bracelet. Only you and Dad know what it says, to make it extra special. £145 from joulberry.com.

But Dad doesn't wear jewellery at all!

For some men even getting them to wear a wedding ring is a struggle. So we've designed the perfect gift for Dad who doesn't like wearing jewellery. The Daddy Infinity keyring at £95 is a discreet present which tells him how much you care by handstamping a message into our classic sterling silver keyring.
